

I like to trust my phone knowing that only those who I want to call me are able to do so. Family dinners are our own. Our phone is free to call others and we don't have to tell people not to call or that we're not interested. Home is now a haven from commercialism. Thank you!